

Falling

JOY.

I think that I'm going crazy
Why do I keep running back for more?
Why do I keep on crying
When I see you walk out the door?

You gave me something I cannot return
Gaze me up and then you tease me with your love for me to try to win
Yet I still play your games
Then one day you decided that we were done
I really thought that I would always be the only one
Did you ever feel the same?

And I keep on falling
In and out of love with you
I know you keep on calling
I hate the ghost you turn me into

I think I'm intoxicated by you
When you run your hands through your hair
Makes me want to stay forever
I think I that I'm lost in you
When you choke on these words again
It makes you want to not be together

You gave me something I cannot return
Tried to teach me all these lessons that were too hard to learn
Yet I still played your games
Then one day you decided that we were done
Even though you told me that I was second to none
Did you ever feel the same?

And I keep on falling
In and out of love with you
I know you keep on calling
I hate the ghost you've turned me into
And I keep on falling
In and out of love with you
I know you keep on calling
I hate the ghost you've turned me into
