

Necromancer

Joy Again

Oh, necromancer, put a spell on me
With kisses so sweet they rot my teeth
Oh, necromancer, why are you so far away
Another day rolls by without me kissing your face

Oh, girl, won't you meet me in the city?
The street lights and corner store signs make you look so pretty
But when will you just be with me?
I'm so infatuated, I'd swim across the sea

I guess you're just fading all away
And I guess I have nothing much to say
And you can call me and tell me if you're okay
I just wish I could see you every day
