

sorry isn't good enough

Joy Oladokun

Don't say sorry

It started with your lips
I leaned in for a kiss you turned away
I guess we're back to this
I don't get your shine just get your shade

It started with my shoulders
They've been hanging low I hit the ground
Try my best to keep composure
But my blood is boiling over

Don't care what you have to say
That you think it's okay
That your words have fixed me
Sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough

Fuck you and your twisted games
Now you've broken everything
Say this time you've changed
But sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough

Ended with my fingers
Running down your face to catch your tears
But this time I mean it
Stop your begging and your pleading

Cause I know you regret it
But now it's just too late for words
Nothing you can say to mend it
Nothing new will stop the hurt

Don't care what you have to say
That you think it's okay
That your words have fixed me
Sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough

Fuck you and your twisted games
Now you've broken everything
Say this time you've changed
But sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough

You oughta know

Don't care what you have to say
That you think it's okay
That your words have fixed me
Sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough

Fuck you and your twisted games
Now you've broken everything
Say this time you've changed

But sorry isn't good enough
No sorry isn't good enough
