

After Coffee

Joywave

This morning was lovely, I woke up in my bed again
I poured the granola, I got out the butter and bread
I reached in the cupboard for sugar and vitamin C
I threw out a tablet of expired Dramamine

After coffee, sitting all alone in thought
Wondering if I should give it up
Move away and find a little spot on the coast
No reception and my secret goes unknown

But I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump

This morning was perfect
The cat woke me quarter to ten
You turned on Nintendo
While we discussed government

After coffee, sitting all alone in thought
Wondering if I should give it up
Move away and find a little spot on the coast
No reception and my secret goes unknown

But I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump

After coffee, sitting all alone in thought
Wondering if I should give it up
Move away and find a little spot on the coast
No reception and my secret goes unknown

But I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump

Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump
Yeah, I'm too scared to jump