

Half Your Age

Joywave

You've been waiting for a sign
Something clear to bring the meaning back to life
Wondering when it'll be your time
Or if it passed before it came and you're expired

Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it all
Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it away
Yeah, tell yourself you've got some years to waste
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it away
But all your heroes now are half your age

Feeling the hourglass running out
Yeah, you ask me how you're supposed to feel right now
But I don't know what I should tell you

Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it all
Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it away
Yeah, tell yourself you've got some years to waste
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it away
But all your heroes now are half your age
Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it all
Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it away
But all your heroes now are half your age

Giving up is not a crime
Moving on when it's time
Everybody knows in the whole damn city
Everybody knows in the whole damn city

Everybody knows in the whole damn city
Everybody knows in the whole damn city
Everybody knows in the whole damn city
Everybody knows in the whole damn city

Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it all
Brush it all, brush it all, brush it all, brush it away
Yeah, tell yourself you've got some years to waste
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all
Laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it all, laugh it away
But all your heroes now are half your age

Giving up is not a crime