

Wait

JP Cooper

I had a dream of you and I
Carried on waves of happiness
Opened my eyes and we're hanging on tight
To a sinking ship and I'm losing grip
Living on different frequencies
And I see you less frequently
Time after time we just pass in the night
We're a sinking ship
You can't let go of it

So I'll wait, wait a little longer
Yeah, I'll wait with the bruises and scars
And I'll wait 'til you're a little stronger
'Cause together, together
Is tearing us apart

And she said "Look at those cracks, won't you fix them up"
And "you did this to us, don't you dare give up"
And though, my arms are open
My heart is shut tight
But I can't disconnect
When I wanna protect you

So I'll wait, wait a little longer
Yeah, I'll wait with the bruises and scars
And I'll wait 'til you're a little stronger
Cause together, together

We're not living our lives
And we're living a lie
Are we just chain and ball?
All caught up in the tide
If we're gonna survive, gotta sail on the tides
Oh no, but until then

I will wait, wait a little longer
And I'll wait with the bruises and scars
And I'll wait 'til you're a little stronger
'Cause together, together
I will wait, wait a little longer
And I'll wait with the bruises and scars
And I'll wait 'til you're a little stronger
'Cause together, together
'Cause together, together
Is tearing us apart
