

Drifting Apart

Juke Ross

Don't you remember, love?
The first time you melted in my arms
We were young and on the run
When you came and fit just like a glove

Woke up this morning
We're still here fighting
And I wanna kiss upon your face
My love is calling
You're just ignoring
It feels like we done lost our sting

We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away
And it's so damn hard
We keep on tearing it apart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away
We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away

Now we're hanging on the brink
And the rains don't make it easy
I know you're tired and I'm a mess
But if you change your mind I'll be around

Way back the time when
Our love was hiding
I was straight bitten by your spell, darling
You turn off the lights when
I've been in here trying
Are we just too broken, my dear?

We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away
And it's so damn hard
We keep on tearing it apart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away
We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It's such a thrill, darling
But you're sailing away

Trying to keep our love alive
Keep you on my side
I walk the line of you
Keep you on my side
I walk the line of you

We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It's such a thrill, darling
And it's so damn hard
But you're sailing away
We keep drifting apart
The more I reach in for your heart
It was such a thrill, darling
