

Start Again

Juke Ross

Trading my old jeans
For them new ones
Thankful I know you
And you know me too

Feels like the old me
But it isn't so
Might take your hands
But I still need to know
We making new plans
To see you down the road

Still you don't know how to tell me
Still you don't know how to make amends
If we don't like the ending
Maybe it's time I start again

I've got my dopamine
And it don't run out
Sniff when I'm lowly
And it draws a crowd
I pick up my whole team
When I'm feeling down

Press the speed dial
And I turn 'em round
I order my pizza and I feel it loud

Still you don't know how to tell me
Still you don't know how to make amends
If we don't like the ending
Maybe it's time I start again

A little less when I'm restarting
A little more is up for me
A little less when I'm recharging
A little stressed when I'm hard on me

Still you don't know how to tell me
Still you don't know how to make amends
If we don't like the ending
Maybe it's time I start again
