

Yesterday

Jukebox the Ghost

When we look back, back at these years
I wonder what we'll remember

Walking down 9th Ave, Sunday mornings
Never felt better

Yesterday, we were so young then
Now it's time to say goodbye
We will keep dreaming wherever we land
So close your eyes, close your eyes

I know that these are fortunate days and
We should count ourselves lucky
We are so, so in love that
It scares the hell out of me

Yesterday, we were so young then
Now it's time to say goodbye
We will keep dreaming wherever we land
So close your eyes, close your eyes

If I could hold this moment in time
I'd give it all to you
Because you are a dreamer, and you will keep dreaming
No matter what we go through

Yesterday, we were so young then
Now it's time to say goodbye
We will keep dreaming wherever we land
So close your eyes, close your eyes
We will keep dreaming wherever we land
So close your eyes
