

Again, Again

Julie Doiron

Again, Again
You will never have to see me again
After everything I never said
But I thought it all
And I thought about everything
And everything I thought about

If I felt that you should know
Everything is lost with all my patience gone
Everything I thought about
Well maybe I should have told you
And maybe you would care
Regret will never make it worse
Regret will never make it worse

Nothing could be worse than this
I have never been in such a mess
Really I'm not good for much
Well maybe I should have told you
And maybe you would care
Regret will never make is worse

Tonight, tonight
I will think about is all again
Every thing I never thought would never end
But it's over now