

Sugar in the Tank

Julien Baker

I love you all the way
To hell and back
I love you tied up on the train tracks
I love you clear as day
And in the dark
I love you sleeping on my deathbed, darlin'

I love you all the time
That I can get
I love you now already, and not yet
I love you deadly as
A heart attack
I loved you halfway in a paper sack

I love you swimming upstream in a flash flood wondering
When I'm gonna drown
Picking up steam on the off-ramp getting
The hell out of downtown
Let you be the chain that keeps me
Closer to the ground
I love you all the way

That I know how
Been wrong too many times to count
I love you all the way
Down to the last drag
I love you strung out on your drying rack

I hate watching through the window when you pull up and I'm still
Thinking I should stay home
Sitting outside with the engine running
Just waiting on me to change
So c'mon baby, put a little
Sugar in the tank
I love you all the way

I hate just watching through the window when you pull up and I'm still
Thinking I should stay home
Sitting outside with the engine running
Just waiting on me to change
So c'mon baby, put a little
Sugar in the tank
I love you all the way
