

Changing Skies

Juliet Simms

Looked out my window tonight into the cloud hidden sky and I, I proclaimed it to be mine then I knew I'd bringing home, bring home to you,

they all say that i'm crazy to get up and leave just like that but I told them its just 4,000 miles and I was willing to do that

I, I'm bringing home to you, cause your the only for me and maybe you
I, I'm changing skies for you but you'll never know how much I've missed you

Packed all my bags and I never been more sure of anything in my life put my heart in a suitcase left my tears at the door no more crying for me anymore cause you know, I know its hard to part thats why I'm breaking these chains of a lonely heart

I, I'm bringing home to you,
cause your the only for me
and maybe you
I, I'm changing skies for you but you'll never know how much I've missed you now this journey takes us on indredible careless tasks together , trading in the loss we shared for might come true forever and ever and ever and ever

I'm, I'm bringing home to you
cause your the only for me
and maybe you
I I'm changing skies for you but you'll never know How much I've missed you