

For Once

Juliet Simms

Imagine all the people
A great man once said
I guess imagining wasn't good enough
For hate prevailed instead
Now I could try to get my point across to you
But it's gonna take a louder voice to listen to
Not a hundred men, not a thousand boys
But all as one hear the call

Close your eyes for once think of each other
Reach out, we've been here forever
I've been dreaming on again
Dream with me

She sits alone on an old wooden porch
Her heart cries out and fills with remorse
The breaking news of burning giants
We're at the mercy of invisible tyrants
He takes his steps into the gates of Hell
Now in the boundaries of kill or be killed
He's shaking now with the horror he's facing
Godd men gone mad 'cause they're trained to be crazy

Close your eyes for once think of each other
Reach out, we've been here forever
I've been dreaming on again
Dream with me

We've fought for so long but not good has come
You've lost the battle that you thought you won
Now I'm down on my knees, end this misery

Close your eyes for once think of each other
Reach out, we've been here forever
I've been dreaming on again
Dream with me

Close your eyes
