

Another Broken Hearted Girl

June Carter Cash

June:

He ran his fingers through her curly hair
When he told her that he'd never really cared
Then he left her alone in the sand
She lost her man, how could she stand

But she stood on that beach at Moonlight Bay
And watched him slowly walk away
Then she fell to her knees on the ground
Without a sound, hair hanging down

Chorus:

Just another broken heart
Just another broken world
Just another fallen star
And a broken hearted girl

Just another broken heart
Just another broken world
Just another fallen star
And a broken hearted girl

June:

The water was cold at Moonlight Bay
Cold enough to wash the tears away
But it couldn't wash away the love she had Ain't moonlight sad when love's gone bad

Just another broken heart
Just another broken world
Just another fallen star
And a broken hearted girl
