

Across The Borders

Júníus Meyvant

All I ever wanted
Is steady ground for you
All I've never needed
Is to find a way to move

Right across the borders
Right across the borders
Right across the borders
But I need your loving now
And I hope some day somehow

I see some kind of change in the waters
I see some kind of change in the waters

I'll find us the real thing
In my heart, I know
It's some kind of feeling
That everything will grow

Right across the borders
Right across the borders
Right across the borders
But I need your loving now
And I hope some day somehow

I see some kind of change in the waters
I see some kind of change in the waters
I see some kind of change in the waters
