

Draw The Line

Júníus Meyvant

You sitting all alone
Stealing every love song
Grown around you
Try, try to settle down
Try to walk away from silly gains you crowned

Told to be the one who's bold
To be the best in all things
To bathe in suffering
To mount all the best you find
And not to give an inch
To those who want you blind

Don't let the voices in your brain
Beat you down until you go insane

Draw the line, draw the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind

Soon, soon you better run
Run from all the deeds that make you numb

Draw the line, drawn the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind

You sitting on your throne
Peeling every love song
All around you
Try to settle down
Try to walk away from silly gains you crowned

Draw the line, drawn the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind
Draw the line, drawn the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind
Draw the line, drawn the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind
Draw the line, drawn the line
Stand your ground and leave it all behind