

Each Day with You

Juris

Flowers from you, on this lovely evening
Though they have no words, they share my feelings
As we walk along the avenue
Pardon me, I just can't help staring at you

When I look into those sparkling eyes
I float in the air and wander in paradise
You give my heart a source of inspiration
Your beauty is beyond imagination

You are the one, the only one that I desire
When we touch, when we're one, you light the fire
The seasons we share hand in hand, there seems to be no time
Each day with you becomes a Valentine

Time must go on and so must we
Moments slip away but not the memories
One day as we look back with all this treasure
Candlelight that shines beyond forever

You are the one, the only one that I desire
When we touch, when we're one, you light the fire
The seasons we share hand in hand, there seems to be no time
Each day with you becomes a Valentine

Your beauty is beyond imagination

You are the one, the only one that I desire
When we touch, when we're one, you light the fire
The seasons we share hand in hand, there seems to be no time
Each day with you becomes a Valentine