

Listen

Justifide

If they could just see you
See you in the way that I do
Then they wouldn't need the proof
That you exist, but they insist

They wanna see your face
Yet they have no faith
But to see your face
The faith is all it really, really takes

'Cause I want them to know you
They gotta, gotta know you
Yes I want them to know you

So now I'll just pray

So don't fight your heart
'Cause this is where it all starts
And if you turn your back
Then all you'll lack is never ending life

So just listen, listen to all that comes from within

Listen, listen to all it has to say
And let everything go this way
Let him in to stay
