

Life Is Worth Living

Justin Bieber

I did my best this time around
Don't look like you've been holding out for nothing
Within nothing
Cause I've been hit down on the ground
I'm hoping we could turn it into something

Yeah, yeah
But you said you weren't a moron, you'll never coming back Oh, now you just remind me of about everything I had Oh, I won't run away from a life worth living with
You don't have to wait for, a life worth living with Cause there's nothing I want more than a life worth living with you
I've been here once too many times

You let me fall away
And it was over (it was over)
I knew you turn yourself around
And I'll be there to take you under my arms, oh Cause you said you weren't a moron, I could never give you that Now you just remind me of about everything I had Oh, I won't run away from a life worth living with
You don't have to wait for, a life worth living with Cause there's nothing I want more than a life worth living with
you

I never want it anymore than this
I found you in my darn day
But I've been waiting after all these time
And you stayed away
But I feel it in my bones
About looking on all over for a love worth living with Oh, I won't run away from a life living with
You don't have to wait for, a life worth living with Cause there's nothing I want more than a life worth living with
you

A live worth living with you
A live worth living with you
A live worth living with you