

Already Written

Justin Garner

I should have known better
Should have known that it wouldn't last forever
Should have known that you could break me down
We was all crossed lovers, bound by the light
Send applause above us
Like every story before us, we were meant to fall yeah
But the damage is done
Let's pick up the pieces
This love has deceased
And now to move on
But I must admit that I'm shot
Is it easy
It was already written in the stars
It was meant to happen
We will never be
It was already written
Even God told us He never means it
Time to face what we should be
It was already written
It was already written
It was already written
Feel like I heard this song before
It was so easy to remember everything go wrong
Sad just say that is all I hope
I'm the man who near you is hanging on the door
I the damage is done
But the damage is done
Let's pick up the pieces
This love has deceased
And now is time to move on
But I must admit that I'm shot
Is it easy ohohh
It was already written in the stars
It was meant to happen
We will never be
It was already written
Even God told us He never means it
Time to face what we should be
It was already written
It was already written
Hey yeah
It was already written
The damage is done
And now it's time to let my guard down
So I let what our hole down
You leave and you lie
And I have thank you for this lesson
It was already written in the stars
It was meant to happen
We will never be
It was already written
Even God told us He never means it
Time to face what we should be
Already written
Already written
And it's already written
It's already written

Already written