I am wrought with paranoia for I have brought myself before you nakedly awaiting you're ok could I be that I annoy you flaunting ways that I adore you I have no control here either way

I awake at night with it and in spite of it it unravels me it's begun to frighten is it so that my persistence blocks the path of least resistance maybe I'm just getting in your way but i'm alright

if you're ok

Can you offer some assistance Let me in on how for instance I should be convincing you to sway

I awake at night with it and in spite of it it unravels me it's begun to frighten me but I'm alright if you're ok

I'm alright if you're ok