Pain ain't a choice, it's feeling when there's no way out
There once was a time I believe in only what was in front of me

Climbed to the steepest point of no return and found nothing out
And that hurt the deepest but my faith won't let me find retreat

At the end of every desert, there's an ocean
I believe at the end of every night you find a sun
There's a life for every reason, and my life is no different from yours
At the end of every desert, there's an ocean

Let me tell you how trust is a verb, not a feeling that'll let you down
It's always a lot to believe it, might not be right in front of me

Climbed to the steepest point of no return and found nothing out
And that hurt the deepest but my faith won't let me find retreat

At the end of every desert, there's an ocean
I believe at the end of every night you find a sun
There's a life for every reason, and my life is no different from yours
At the end of every desert, there's an ocean

Move forward, move forward, move forward
Keep going, push forward, won't let it up
Move forward, move forward, move forward
'Til you see the water
Don't look back, no, no, no
When you wanna give up, get stronger
Move forward, move forward, move forward
A little further

At the end of every desert, there's an ocean
I believe at the end of every night you find a sun
There's a life for every reason, and my life is no different from yours
At the end of every desert, there's an ocean

Move forward, move forward, move forward
(Move forward)
Move forward, move forward, move forward
(Move forward)
Move forward, move forward, move forward
(Move forward)
Move forward, move forward, move forward
(Move forward)
'Til you see the water

At the end of every desert, there's an ocean
I believe at the end of every night you find a sun
There's a life for every reason, and my life is no different from yours
At the end of every desert, there's an ocean
