

Losing You

K's Choice

I'm losing you
Am I losing you?

Welcome the rainbow, fading to grey
Spinning around us, making me say
I'm looking for something like most of us do
I'm looking at God but He's looking at you
He looks for a driver to take Him back home
To get it together by being alone
I'm sure He's a writer, He wrote me just now
The letter is empty like I'm living now

But that feels good to do
Compared to losing you
And I'm losing you

Do I need you baby to smother the pain
To stop all I live through from being in vain
Vanity fills me, vanity's nice
But somehow it kills you by hitting you twice
Do take it all brother, take it from me
All but my lover cause she is in me
So many lovers don't look but they find
We're lovers too but I'm losing my mind

That feels good to do
Compared to losing you

Can I be your memory, can I be part of your ways?
Can I be the moonlight that shines on your beautiful face?
You can make me glow
I don't think you know

I keep on singing "A song is a dove
It lives in the desert to celebrate love"
Maybe tomorrow, maybe tonight
You will look up and you'll know I'm alright
I will be ready, ready to ride
Ready to roam as I'm burning inside

That feels good to do
Compared to losing you
I'm losing you
Am I losing you?...