1 for your love
2 for your time
3 for your heart
4 for your mind

How we supposed to get to where we going when the train don't come around here?

How we supposed to make it through the storm when we living in the eye of it still?

Still

Hopefully, we can make the most of what they gave us on this odyssey
Feeling like I seen this shit before, the prodigal prodigy

It's a crazy mental game they play, the methodology

Perception realer than reality, we can't composite it

Discover the paper trail and follow it

Realize the lies that we believe are all the shallowest

Calling out the names that we exclaim to be the hallowest

And downplay the pain to entertain all of the followers

I don't need the love they bring with flowers trying to shower ya

I walk amongst the roses, smell 'em daily, tryna power up

If you don't love yourself then who gon' love you like you need to be

Freedom is a state of mind we're free to feel abundantly

1 for your love
2 for your time
3 for your heart
4 for your mind

How we supposed to get to where we going when the train don't come around here?

How we supposed to make it through the storm when we living in the eye of it still?

Still

Still at it, still feeling like I'm stagnant

Still ain't satisfied with this situation I can't manage

Still too much pride for me to admit what I can't handle

The ceiling they built for me I gotta break through it

Can't play the games that they playing clueless

Can't fuck around and make the same moves and expect something different

The times get hard, nigga I know it gets difficult

When you at your lowest but you never show it

When it's all too hard to shoulder, never lose your focus

1 for your love
2 for your time
3 for your heart
4 for your mind

How we supposed to get to where we going when the train don't come around here?

How we supposed to make it through the storm when we living in the eye of it still?
