

High Beams

K.A.A.N.

Laying low from the high beams
Taking cover from the sirens
It's so loud, it's so loud

Feeling like I need an angel
I been hopeless, I been anxious
I been looking for a way
I been running out of time
I been running out of patience
Taking off like a spaceship
I been stuck inside a matrix
Hit the gas, speed racing
I never been complacent
I'm off the reservation, chasing

Laying low from the high beams
Taking cover from the sirens
It's so loud, it's so loud

Niggas say I went missing on 'em
I been living in the moment
I been taking step back trying to take a new approach to this shit I do
Get a good view of everything before I plan to make my next move
Can't fall back or fall off, sticking to the plan just like glue
This is top notch
Feeling like I sacrificed too much to throw the towel in Don't stop
Moving at a pace most can't keep up with
I refuse to hold up
Never took a day off on the clock, you see a nigga showed up
You fucking right I go up
Really ain't no option, really ain't no option
To be the last man standing my nigga what's popping
I gotta keep it honest
I read between the lines like I'm hooked on phonics
Nigga what's the problem
I been inside too long my vision cloudy
It's raining round me
Feeling like I'm drowning
I been reaching
Feel the tide moving slightly, slightly
Feeling like I'm lost in the deep end
Intuition to guide me, guide me

Laying low from the high beams
Taking cover from the sirens
It's so loud, it's so loud