

STRONGER

K.A.A.N.

No one can save us now
The gates are open and the truth is flooding out

Feels like I'm trippin, I just can't find myself
Many times I've been lost on this path, I've been searching for the man that I am

Lend me a piece of your love, I just need a little bit of your time
Can I have it?

Lawd!

Can I have it?

I'm in love with the cause, no one to save him at all
You blown away by the energy, Emphasize and maximize the melody
Manifest and I will make them believe, easy to see the deceased
Fake as they are, our shit is written for facade
I realize what is wrong, I remain calm

Conquer and murder them all

Pick a part I put a lot into it

I don't do like everybody else, I ain't even really interested

Sentences give my emotion

Kinda hopeless

Feel the sense, lost innocence, but no simple shift

Six simpletons I sense something different

Don't sound convincing big vast of opinions

I past predictions, its my tradition

If the lyricist not resurrected with the right direction

With its like rejection, my honest statement is;

I'll forever do me and never change till the day I expire

Lawd! Knowledge!

I don't want to save us now

I'm letting go of the weight that pulls me down

Going in right by my time will never be wasted

Turn the bass up a bit till its shaking

Think fast to the state that been baking

Can't quit to the point that I make it

Putting the hands of my enemy's unequivocally

We have stated the purpose of pointed myself

As a champion showing you all that I have

Making it easy to grasp

I gratify with my gift of gab

Giving you vision to go and get

A secular form of some happiness

You could imagine and realize

Keep it inside and never monetize

This is the way to prioritize

Another chapter for your monologue

Lawd!

All this time we've been searching

Searching for someone

Someone to make us stronger