

Still

Kailee Morgue

You tell me saying less is saying more
The voice in my head is already yours
I waited twenty years for you
You fit me better than my shoes

No one believes in me except for you
I'm losing everything except for you
I fail at everything, I can't do anything
I fail at everything, I'd die for anything
Oh, how can you still love me?

(How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?
How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?)

The wall shakes and I am scared to death
I'm not done loving you just yet
I can get paranoid you say some things
Last one really did number on me
You left me homesick, but I love the sea
And when I need shelter, you lift up your wings

No one believes in me except for you
I'm losing everything except for you
I fail at everything, I can't do anything
I fail at everything, I'd die for anything
Oh, how can you still love me?

How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?
How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?

(How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?
How could you?
How could you?
How could you still love me?)
