

Life Will Pass You By

Kaleidoscope

Life will pass you by,
and Love will fade away,
the darkness that clouds mens minds was the same that drew you away from me

In a world of many pleasures, there's time for fun and games, yet all that glitters is not gold child there's more in the world to hold child than those who strive only for name

Well life will pass you by,
and love will fade away,
the darkness that clouds mens minds
was the same that drew you away from me

[BRIDGE]

Once there was a lamp whose beam i thought it would hold like a beacon in the night it showed who would have thought it to be roving me to a road most sorely taken

Life will pass you by,
and love will fade away,
the darkness that clouds mens minds
was the same that drew you away from me