

Scars

Kalimba

I've been suffocating
Since you're gone
I can't catch my breath
I've let down my weapons
And all the words
The words I regret

Someone said that love will fade away when it's new
But I don't believe that's true
I believe with all my heart that love conquers all
And I would still fall for you

Oh what is love?
It'll tear you up, and leave you empty when it's over
If I knew then what I know now
I'd never have to face these scars
I'm losing blood, I'm losing touch
And the world it's getting colder
I'm wasting away, numbing the pain
But nothing can erase these scars

I should have seen it coming
I was blind
By the thoughts in my head
I should have heard your heartbeat
But I was deafened
By the things that you said

Someone said that love will fade away when it's new
But I don't believe that's true
I believe with all my heart that love conquers all
And I would still fall for you

What is love?
It'll tear you up, and leave you empty when it's over
If I knew then what I know now
I'd never have to face these scars
I'm losing blood, I'm losing touch
And the world it's getting colder
I'm wasting away, numbing the pain
But nothing can erase these-

Even if I could've never gave up on the world we had
I never knew that loving you and losing you would hurt me so bad, oh no

What is love?
Tear you up and leave you empty when it's over

I'm losing blood, I'm losing touch
And the world it's getting colder
I'm wasting away, numbing the pain
But nothing can erase these scars

If I knew then what I know now
I'd never have to face these scars
I'm wasting away, numbing the pain
Nothing can erase these scars
