

Drifting in a Dream

Kalmah

There is nothing around
No silence no sound

The earth is calling me in my sleep
The bogey is hiding inside me
My eyes are blinking I'm drifting away
Away from the blackness towards the light

I'm falling out
From the edge of the earth

I'm drifting in a dream
That does not belong to me

There is no movement
Pure empty space
I still hear your calling
With a grin on your face
You let me down then
You will let me down now
So nothing has changed
In this constant dream

I'm falling out
From the edge of the earth

I'm drifting in a dream
That does not belong to me
I'm drifting in a dream
In a dream already seen

Oh please save me
Drifting in a dream
Drifting in a dream
Dream already seen
Drifting in a dream
