

Visibility Zero

Kansas

Fall into a single line,
and let the feed you for a while.
To each and every single one,
They will promise you the sun.

Can you see the lies within their eyes,
They try to plant illusion in your mind.

Well aware of their untruths,
they fabricate this show for you.
A flight of fancy they convey.
Like kings they want to dominate.

With the lies they hide behind their eyes,
Their plan is one that takes you for a ride.

Crazy how this world of ours is spinning wild.
You try to pause, but time it just slips right on by.
So many things surround us and we lose our sight.
How we fail to see what's right before our eyes.

They come in every shape and size,
and are split along the aisle.
They sit with different points of view,
All they take, they take from you.

Intoxicated with their greed.
This gathering of jokers, fools, and thieves.

Crazy how this world of ours is spinning wild.
You try to pause, but time it just slips right on by.
So many things surround us and we lose our sight.
How we fail to see what's right before our eyes.

How we fail to see what's right before our eyes.