

Good Guy

Kari Faux

Everyone assumes you're a good guy
Just because you're good looking
Ooh, this time nobody knew the truth
It's such a shame
Everybody thinks they can see through the walls
But they don't know the blood, the sweat, the tears it took
To try to tear them down (yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah)

Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
Saying things that you mean, that you do
I'm the one [?] you did it
Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
I don't wanna waste another minute

Everyone assumes you're a good guy
Just because you look good, ooh
Don't pretend you're innocent, boy
Take the blame

Flowing [?], why you push me aside
Think you're wondering that issue I despise
You can't seem to decide, Dr. Jekyll and Hyde
I never know what I'll get, when I finally arrive
Can't take the good with the bad 'cause it's not good enough
Sometimes we go from making love straight into [?]
Remember when this was a crush, now everything is crushed
I thought you handled me with care but now my heart is scuffed
[?] see
Behind they hands, some little faces, something ugly
And from the outside looking in, they all like "lucky me"
I love myself too much to say so, now I gotta leave

Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
Saying things that you mean, that you do
I'm the one [?] you did it
Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
I don't wanna waste another minute
I'm not gonna waste another minute, oh

Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
Saying things that you mean, that you do
I'm the one [?] you did it
Every time you tell me that you listen
Turn around and push me to my limit
I don't wanna waste another minute