

In the back of my mind, in the fading light, in the rain
In the dead of the night when it all goes quiet, in the pain
You're weaving through my dreams until I wake
And the moments fly by but the memory always remains