

Enough

Kat Von D

Dove down
To the bottom of the dark blue sea
Searching for any traces that are left of me

When I met you I sailed so high
I fell far and almost died
Who knew words could hurt like this?
And getting close is dangerous
It's dangerous

And I've heard enough
And I've heard enough
'Cause I've heard enough already
'Cause you said enough to last a lifetime
And I took you in
And you took me down
I let you take me over
I let you take me over

Hong Kong
In the middle of a rainy day (ah-ooh)
Hotel room
I can't avoid the wicked things you say (ah-ooh)

And in your eyes
I see my death
It takes so long to catch my breath
Who knew you could hurt like this?
And getting close is dangerous
It's dangerous

And I've heard enough
And I've heard enough
'Cause I've heard enough already
'Cause you said enough to last a lifetime
'Cause I took you in
And you took me down
I let you take me over
I let you take me over

And beauty is more than skin and bones
We all want someone to call our own (to call our own)
Blood-stained tears, and trembling fists
Who knew life could hurt like this? (could hurt like this?)

'Cause I've heard enough
And I've heard enough
And I've heard enough already
'Cause you said enough to last a lifetime
And I took you in
And you took me down
I let you take me over
I let you take me over

I let you take me over
I let you take me over
I let you take me over

I let you take me
I let you take me
