

Lachesis

Katatonía

We're sundered
Our cards were dealt and what did you receive
In my rest
In all my coming nights I will dream for you to see
And my words
Will be spilled upon the ground and sorrow must be freed
Morning
At long last sleeping no colours to wake me