by a black road giving a brief smile something's on the way forgotten for a while and you try to speak this without a voice down by a black road we try to forget and try to make it through

2x someday we'll go
further from this right into the bliss
some night we'll try
to leave this place for another

they keep pushing me so far from every chance makes it so much harder for me to carry on so I try to speak this without a thought down by a black road we try to forget and try to make it through

2x
