Forty below, driving on deathly icing roads
Back seat is full of clothes, I gotta talk this over Run out of gas, wake a stranger up to fill my tank in his pajam as

I only got ten dollars

I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer It's been a long road and I feel awful I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer And that's all, that's all

She has company and I've walked into the wrong room So I go to the bathroom and I wash my hands in sulfur water A twitterpated buzz is coming off of her My admiration forces me to leave her

She asks me to stay but I've outgrown her, so I'm Back in my car and I get pulled over

I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer It's been a long road and I feel awful I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer And that's all, that's all

With a warning I check my wipers and defog I notice my mind is on the floor But I must move onward

So I pick a song and I sing along While lofty dreams dance on and on Over a place I'll live forever

I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer It's been a long road and I feel awful I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer And that's all, that's all

I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer
It's been a long road and everything's awkward
I'm not drunk I wanna go home, officer
And that's all, that's all
