

Until Morning

Kate Rusby

In the deepest, darkest hour
Where the strongest soul will cower
And it feels like it's so long till morning
I know your weary head needs rest
And we both know you've done your best
So I'll hold your hand
Until the day comes dawning

I know the world's been cruel of late
And your heart can't bear the weight
And it feels like it's so long till morning
But together we are bound
So I will keep you safe and sound
And I'll hold your hand
Until the day comes dawning

Don't worry, let the night go drifting by
And tomorrow you can fly

In the dark night you are lost
Counting stars to count the cost
And it feels like it's so long till morning
So I will catch the moon's bright beams
To guide you gently through your dreams
And I'll hold your hand
Until the day comes dawning

When there's stillness all around
And your heart's a deafening sound
And it feels like it's so long till morning
I will stay with you, old friend
So you can heal and you can mend
And I'll hold your hand
Until the day comes dawning

Don't worry, let the night go drifting by
And tomorrow you will fly

Now it's time to make your peace
Into the night your fears release
And it feels like it's so long till morning
And we will claim the night for ours
And we won't see the dark for stars
And I'll hold your hand
Until the day comes dawning

Don't worry, let the night go drifting by
And tomorrow you will fly
And tomorrow you will fly
