

Runaway

Katelyn Tarver

Everything is in pieces
She's back to the start
Going in circles day and night
Not getting far

She's had enough of
Oh, having all of this stuff
It's starting to drag her down
She wants out
Wish she could just

Runaway aye aye
And get further everyday
Take her reasons and her feelings
And throw them all away
Have to face it all
On her own
She'd be okay to get out, get out, get out
Just runaway

She says without him
She's worthless
Won't be anything
And he has got good lies
Bout bad times to keep her around

She's finally had enough of
Oh, him and all of his stuff
So she's gonna breakout
Turn around
No slowing down

She'll runaway aye aye
She's got no reasons to stay
Take her tears and fears
And she'll throw them all away
Finally left him there
On his own
She found her way
She said, "get out, get out, just runaway"

Now why I get so scared when I think about
Where I'll end up of if I'll figure it out
But then I look and I see
You and me

We'll runaway aye aye
There's no stopping us today
We've all got worries and our stories
And we'll learn along the way
Have to face it all
On our own
No matter what they say
We'll get out, get out, get out
