

Love Has Found Me Here

Kathy Troccoli

Driving, driving alone in the rain
Teardrops rolling down my windowpane
I'm going crazy
I think maybe I've got to slow down

Long roads traveling mile after mile
Unload all of my cares for a while
I suddenly see you
You break through, through this aching inside

(Ooh-ooh, love)
Love, love has found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Hiding all these years
From the calling of my heart
Love, love had found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Love has reappeared
Or were you there right from the start?

Running, I've gone as far as I can
Eyes closed, ending up where I began
When will I ever learn you're there every turn?
No need to run on

(Ooh-ooh, love)
Love, love has found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Hiding all these years
From the calling of my heart
Love, love had found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Love has reappeared
Or were you there right from the start?

Now I'll be recklessly
Abandoning my heart to you
If you would stop the time
I'd see that I'm in ecstasy

(Ooh-ooh, love)
Love, love has found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Love has reappeared
Or were you there right from the start?

Love, love has found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Hiding all these years
From the calling of my heart, hey
Love, love had found me here
(Whoa-oh...)
Love has reappeared
Or were you there right from the start?
