

Water into Wine

Kathy Troccoli

My blinded eye was made to see
My captive heart has been set free
I have seen the miracle, now I believe

You turned the water into wine
Looking back I've see them many times
You made the simple thing divine
With a touch of your hand you changed this heart of mine
You turned the water into wine

Your still, small voice will speak the truth
Your love alone will see me through
Lord I need a miracle
Lord, I need you

You turned the water into wine
Looking back I've see them many times
You made the simple thing divine
With a touch of your hand you changed this heart of mine
You turned the water into wine

Lord I need a miracle
Lord I need You
You turned the water into wine
Looking back I've seen them many times
You made the simple thing divine
With a touch of your hand you changed this heart of mine
You turned the water into wine

Lord I need a miracle