

Phases Of The Moon

Katie Pruitt

What a perfect summer night
To spend it all here wallowing inside my room
And lately I've been thinking
What if prayers are wishes that never come true?

Cause it's not written in the clouds
I don't need to know the ending anyhow
Just the courage to turn pages
It all changes
Like the phases of the moon

Saturn she is stubborn
Like a lover who just can't make up her mind
And your friends all tried to warn you
She'll get bored she's always been the leavin' kind

Why does it hurt this much to care?
To watch her take off into the air?
But birds they don't belong cages
Her love changes
Like the phases of the moon

Been trying to believe in magic
But these spells I'm conjuring they just won't cast
And I thought saw my future
But it turns out that the crystal ball was cracked

So I'm not searching for a sign
I am learning every time the fire dies
Something new comes to replace it
It all changes
Like the phases of the moon
