

Enough

Katrina Carlson

You painted a picture
Colored a moment
So I could believe in love
You're beautiful
Am I enough

One perfect sunrise
A purple-orange sunset
Could never describe what you have stirred up
You're everything
I've ever dreamed of

But am I strong enough
Lucky enough, stupid enough
Am I smart enough to be who I am
So you'll understand I am enough

My eyes weren't looking
My arms were not open
No path had been paved, you just walked up
You gave me love
And I ate it up

But am I strong enough
Lucky enough, stupid enough
Am I smart enough to be who I am
So I'll understand I am enough

You're beautiful,
But what if it rains
The seasons will change
As time passes by

Are you strong enough
Lucky enough, stupid enough
Are you smart enough
To stay here with me
So we could see
We could see this love is enough