

Fully Alive

Katy Rose

You took a step
Into his atmosphere
Could only breathe
When he was near
The fog around you
Was finally clear
You were fully alive

You stole the stars
So he could see you glow
He filled the space
Where no one ever goes
It was dirty and soft
Like New York snow
You were fully alive

When your hours
Are running out
When he's the sky
And you're the cloud
Every second
Is bigger than your doubt
Yea, you're fully alive

When your heart
Can't break anymore
When you've lost everything
You were living for
It's the end of the race
And there is no reward
But you're fully alive

Yea, you're fully alive
You are fully alive
Yea, you're fully alive
You are fully alive
