

Difficult Year

Keane

It's been a difficult year
Slack time gone wasted
It's just been a difficult year
And I wish we'd been together to face it

Some days it seems okay
Got some good friends around me
But I'm still scared of losing my head
I guess there's just something selfish about me

A dozen months go by
As you wait for a sign
For the sky to boil
Above a sea of wine
For some road to grow
Before your eyes
For some act of God
To set you right

I've had a little bad luck
Well, it's mostly my own making
I thought I had it all sewn up
But I was so badly mistaken

A dozen months go by
Used to wait for a sign
For the sky to boil
For some road to grow
Before your eyes
For some guiding star
To shine her light

Is it too late to find someone to
Shield you when your nerves are raw?
Just say and sing it like you mean it
I need you now and forevermore

Yeah, is it too late to find someone to
Shield you when your nerves are raw?
Just say and scream it like you mean it
I need you now and forevermore
Yeah, I need you now and forevermore

It's been a difficult year
I just wish we'd been together to face it
