Keith Urban

Sometimes I forget who we were back then
That Saturday night stealin' cold beer and cigarettes
At a house we didn't know, wearin' our now vintage clothes
Lookin' at this photo

Oh I remember someone saying smile
Who would have thought we'd still be smilin' now

We've come a long way
Since we were strangers in a basement
At a party we hated
Tryin' to make conversation
The night it was taken
I didn't have a clue
That someday I'd be something more
Than just a boy in a Polaroid with you

Too many times these moments they come and go
How lucky was I that our moment was set in stone
Even though the colors faded
And everybody changes

Oh, I remember fallin' just like that
And now it's kinda crazy lookin' back

We've come a long way
Since we were strangers in a basement
At a party we hated
Tryin' to make conversation
The night it was taken
I didn't have a clue
That someday I'd be something more
Than just a boy in a Polaroid with you

Oh, I remember someone saying smile
Who would have thought we'd still be smiling now

We've come a long way
Since we were strangers in a basement
At a party we hated
Tryin' to make conversation
The night it was taken
I didn't have a clue
That someday I'd be something more
Than just a boy in a Polaroid with you

Tryin' to make conversation
The night it was taken
I didn't have a clue
That someday I'd be something more
Than just a boy in a Polaroid with you
