

Blue

Keith Wallen

Shades of red from street lights are
Casting reflections onto the wall
The life of the party sleeps when the music stops
Tracing shapes into your palm
Is when I feel the most alone
And I feel happy when I'm alone with you

I believe in so much more than luck
But the tiny photographs of us remind me that

With you, life is so blue
But it's my favorite color here in my arms
Your head on my shoulders, stay here forever
And hide away from the sunlight
We'll get drunk on each other and play in the dark
Your head on my shoulder
Stay here forever

Place your hand onto the glass
The cold of the window reminds us that
The outside world is no place for us right now
So let's forget about everywhere but here
And we can try and disappear forever

With you, life is so blue
But it's my favorite color here in my arms
Your head on my shoulders, stay here forever
And hide away from the sunlight
We'll get drunk on each other and play in the dark
Your head on my shoulder
Stay here forever

With you, life is so blue
But it's my favorite color my favorite one
You are an ocean
I am just drowning
