

Future

Keith Wallen

Here it comes again
That same old feeling when your soul is broken
Listen to the voice within Trying just to take back what was stolen

I, I just want to put this life back together
I, I've been living in this darkness forever

So tell me where to go
I'm looking for the place where nobody knows
Is it down an endless road
Just get me to tomorrow with my heart in tow

Here it comes again
The fine line between hope and madness
Maybe I'm just breaking in
Or maybe just relax, let go, and take a hit

I, I just want to put this life back together
I, I've been living in this darkness forever

So tell me where to go
I'm looking for the place where nobody knows
Is it down an endless road
Just get me to tomorrow with my heart in tow
Turn to the future

Turn to the future

Don't want to see you for the last time
Past the horizon there's a new life for us
Where there is darkness there is light
There is a future

So tell me where to go
I'm looking for the place where nobody knows
Is it down an endless road
There is future, there is a future