

Artifacts Of Modern Insanity

Kekal

we're in the beginning of the end of time - in the middle of the countdown
- it's impossible to turn around - but who's aware of it? - lost in the fields of thick deceptions - up all nights and all days, creating more goals based on worldly views - here it is, anywhere we look around we'll see - prove of mankind's grand achievements - backed by technological sophistication - but should we be proud of it? - lost in the fields of thick
deceptions - up all nights and all days, creating more goals based on worldly views, in worldly ways - what's in our minds? - with all these philosophical kinds of modern frames of thoughts - a new-found old insanity - as we lost in the fields of thick deceptions - up all nights
and all days, creating more goals based on worldly views, in worldly ways