Kekal

humankind of an equal essence should be given equal participation equal access to information and knowledge one portal that fits everyone's expressions eliminating hierarchies within social construction in order to achieve preservation of neutrality absolute power corrupts absolutely realization of an ideal should be done collectively information sharing as a part of contributive mindset but this will always challenge our human nature elimination of self is the one most effortful condition in a society where the most popular act is to play god
